FIGHT STILL WAGING.

Democrats Are Claiming a New Accession.

WOMEN ARE TAKING A HAND

Mrs. Snider Said to Be Working For the Combine.

THE RESULT IS VERY DOUBTFUL.

Boiling Republicans Refuse to Vote For a Democrat For United States Senator, and Democrats Hesitate About Voting For a Republican.

Columbus, O., Jan. 6.—Both branches of the legislature have adjourned till Monday; but both sides of the senatorial contest remain in conferences daily and nightly at the Neil House and the Great Southern hotel, respectively.

The suspense and secret work will continue till next Tuesday, when the two branches of the legislature vote separately for senator and the rollcalls will show whether any changes have been made. The doubtful members made no flop Wednesday. They still remain doubtful, and they are receiving the united and untiring attention of the legislative steering committees and outside workers.

Next Monday Governor Bushnell will be inaugurated for his second term, but the exercises will not interfere with the senatorial fight. The anti-Hanna Republicans expect all of their followers here Monday for a large demonstration.

Although many Republican clubs have canceled their engagements for quarters on inauguration day, it is believed that the efforts of the anti-Hanna Republicans to have as big a demonstration as usual will succeed. The Hanna men will also take advantage of the excursion rates to have visiting Republican delegations here on that day to protest against "the combine" with Democrats.

The expected deadlock will not begin till next Wednesday, when the two houses ballot jointly for senator and continue to ballot jointly from day to day till there is an election. As the balloting may continue indefinitely, it is not expected that the inauguration visitors will remain to add to the chorus of bitter howling and countercharges, but some apprehend insulting demonstrations and even serious disturbances on Monday.

Protests Pouring In.
Letters and telegrams from protesting Republican clubs and committees and others continue to pour in from the counties on the governor and the Republican members who are co-operating with the Democrats, and some of these messages and missives appeal to Senator Foraker to come to the relief of the party by declaring it to be the duty of all Republicans to stand by the decree of the Toledo state convention in support of Senator Hanna.

In reply to the reports about Secretary Sherman, Assistant Secretary Day, Congressman Grosvenor and others being made the Republican senatorial nominee Senator Hanna said positively that he would never retire. He says he was nominated by the Toledo state convention for senator and can not retire in favor of any other one. If he is defeated the responsibility for disregarding the decree of the state convention will rest on those who are now co-operating with the Democrats.

The senator insists that he will never withdraw, even if defeat should become inevitable, but he still insists that he will win out before another week rolls around. Senator Hanna, Mr. Kurtz and other leaders are now almost worn out, and they evidently have a long struggle still ahead of them.

The standing committees have not been announced in either house, and "the combine" is using the patronage to hold their men in line. In the senate Senator Burke showed some tendency to co-operate with his Republican colleagues. The Democrats wanted to report the committees, but Senator Burke stopped it by saying he would vote with the Republicans. Later in the day Senator Burke was in conference with Hanna, and he spent most of his time with the Hanna workers.

"Combine" Has Trouble.
The Republicans announced Tuesday that they would hold no joint senatorial caucus, and the Democratic members made the same announcement. The anti-Hanna Republicans will have no caucus, so that there will be no test of strength till next Tuesday. While the Hanna men are still short three or more votes on the current claims of both sides, yet "the combine" is having its troubles in fixing on some one who can command all the Democratic vote as well as that of the dissenting Republicans.

The Hanna men laugh at the attempt to secure indictments against certain workers, and say that the men who are spending the money are the ones to raise the cry about bribery. The cry of the opposition has been that of "Bossism and Boodlie" during the contest.

At the anti-Hanna headquarters they are confidently claiming a new accession, but refuse to give the name of the member. Senator Burke and several other members got away from the pressure by returning to their homes.

Following close on the reports about Mrs. Griffith taking a deep interest in the vote of her husband on the senatorship comes a report that Mrs. Snider, the wife of the representative from Greene county, is taking an interest in the contest and is favorable to the opposition.

Snider in the Caucus.
Mr. Snider attended the Republican house caucus last Saturday night and voted for Boxwell for speaker on Monday, but the opposition are constantly after him to vote against Hanna.

In connection with the reports about Representative Griffith, and especially about the preferences of Mrs. Griffith, there are reports that the wives of other Republican members are being enlisted in the contest; and there are reports that the wives of some Democratic members are urging their husbands not to vote for any Republican senator, but to stand out for a Democrat for senator.

Mr. Kurtz and his associates are reported to be unable to control the anti-Hanna Republican members for a Democratic senator, and the McLean managers are believed to have some trouble to get all the Democrats to support a Republican for senator. Governor Bushnell and members of his staff attended the theater and an incident occurred to cause much cheering for Hanna.

A BAD PAIR.
Two Alleged Counterfeiters Captured and Placed in Jail.

Toledo, Jan. 6.—Deputy United States Marshal Shannon and Napt Webb of the secret service returned to this city from Paulding county, having in charge Henry Luce and Dr. Alexander Thompson, two residents of that county, charged with passing counterfeit half dollars. It is known that an organized gang of counterfeiters inhabit the swamps and forests of that county. When searched several blank certificates of membership in an oathbound society were found on Luce.

The President's Views.
Washington, Jan. 6.—Although the treasury officials are reticent on the subject, there are good reasons for the belief that Secretary Gage's letter in response to the senate's civil service resolution is practically in substantial accord with the views of the president, and it is altogether probable that, in the absence of congressional action on the subject, he will issue new rules which will carry into effect the changes suggested by the secretary.

Not Yet Settled.
Washington, Jan. 6.—Assistant Secretary Howell was shown the announcement from Mr. Sifton, minister of the interior at Ottawa, stating that he had arranged for the passage of Canadian goods across American territory, via Dyea and Skagway, without inspection charges. Mr. Howell said that the question was still before the department.

Loud Bill Reported.
Washington, Jan. 6.—The committee on postoffices and post roads reported the Loud bill remedying abuses in the privileges of second-class mail matter to the house. Chairman Loud, in making the report, said congress must stop the second-class matter abuses, or the government had better go out of the postal business.

Criminal on Trial.
St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 6.—Calhoun Calkins, son of rich parents and formerly a young society leader, is on trial in the criminal court here on the charge of burglary and larceny. He broke into the real estate office of John L. Ziedler on the night of Sept. 3 and rifled the safe.

Two More Bad Bills.
New York, Jan. 6.—Two of the counterfeit $100 silver certificates have made their appearance in this city. Detectives purchase one from a bank where it had been received in the ordinary course of business. The subtreasury received the second note.

Stay of Execution Granted.
Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 6.—Governor Stevens granted a stay of execution to George Thompson, the negro sentenced to be hanged in St. Louis Friday, Jan. 7, to allow the prisoner's attorneys time to appeal the case to the supreme court of the United States.

CIVIL SERVICE DEBATE.

It Is Precipitated by Cabinet Members' Replies.

CAUSTIC REMARKS MADE.

Mr. Davis, Chairman of Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, Wants the Hawaiian Question Disposed Of.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The presentation of replies of the members of the cabinet to the resolution calling for information as to the application of the civil service law to the various departments of the government, together with the consideration of the bill establishing a bureau for the twelfth census, precipitated a sharp civil service debate in the senate.

Mr. Cullom of Illinois, the author of the resolution, thought modification in the law ought to be made, as the authorities had drifted far away from the original intention of the authors of the civil service law.

Mr. Allen of Nebraska charged that the law was openly and daily violated, and said it was a hiss and a byword among the people.

Mr. Cockrell of Missouri declared that it was presumptuous in Secretary Sherman to make recommendations to congress that certain positions in his department should be excepted from the classified service when the president had full authority to make the exceptions he recommended. He thought an effort was being made to tie the president's hands.

Mr. Davis, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, gave notice that he would next Monday, and daily thereafter, move that the senate consider in executive session the Hawaiian annexation treaty until it was finally disposed of.

Business of Civil Service.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The bill for the reform of the civil service law, which has been drafted by a special committee of Republican members of the house of representatives opposed to the system in its present form, makes sweeping changes in the present system, the most important of which is the establishment of a 5-year tenure of office for those government employees who are brought within the terms of the bill. The measure limits the application of the civil service system to the departments in Washington and to such other localities where the total number of employees exceeds 25.

To Encourage Commerce.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Representative Taylor introduced a bill to encourage commerce with Hawaii and Japan by authorizing payment for 20 years of not exceeding $160,000 per year, payable quarterly, for telegraphic communication from San Francisco to Honolulu and via Midway Islands to points to be selected on the Japanese coast. The money is to be paid on a contract to be entered into between the United States and a private enterprise for the operation of a cable. After the 20 years government messages are forever to be sent free.

Arranging For a Match.

Dayton, O., Jan. 6.—Rolla O. Helkes, who, on New Year's day, successfully defended the Cast Iron medal in the 100-lb. bird race with Grimm, has received a challenge from Charles W. Budd of Des Moines. Helkes will probably name Feb. 22 as the date for the match, to be shot in Fairview park, near this city, 100 live birds to each man and $100 a side.

Payable in Silver.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Senator Teller introduced a concurrent resolution declaring the bonds of the United States to be payable in silver dollars and asserting that "to restore to their coinage such silver coins as a legal tender in payment of said bonds, principal and interest, is not in violation of the public faith, nor in derogation of the rights of the public creditor."

Democrats Will Get One.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Congressman Grosvenor of Ohio says: "If Hanna should be defeated it will be by a combination of Democrats and bolting Republicans, which will give the Democrats the senator for the long or short term. They will not furnish the votes without getting part of the spoils. But I still maintain that Hanna will be elected."

London, Jan. 6.—Actor Edward J. Ratcliffe, now in jail in New York for beating his wife, married Caroline Ravenhill, a fishmonger, in 1883, and deserted her two years later.

Teacher Arrested.

Middleburg, O., Jan. 6.—Mr. Leander Bell, one of the teachers in the public schools, is under arrest charged with choking a pupil into insensibility.

THE DEAL CLOSED.
St. Louis Browns Have Been Sold For a Good Price.

St. Louis, Jan. 6.—The St. Louis Browns have been sold to a syndicate composed of John T. Brush, the Indianapolis baseball magnate; Messrs. Talbot and Schmidt of that city, and Frank DeHaas Robinson, president of the Cleveland club. The price paid was $85,000, of which $60,000 is in cash and the remainder notes.

Frye on Chinese Situation.

New York, Jan. 6.—Senator Frye of Maine, discussing the oriental question, said: "This country is vitally interested in the situation in China. We have very great interests there now, and will have much greater in the future, which would be destroyed by the partition of the empire. I fancy, however, that the dismemberment will not occur. It will not unless all the powers, excluding the United States, reach an agreement to share the territory. While England and Japan resist I think there can be no partition of China."

Recreant Husband Located.

Toledo, Jan. 6.—Mrs. William Burdo discovered that her husband was living with Mrs. Nashal, a widow with four small children, at Windsor. Burdo was working in Detroit and his wife was advised to get assistance of the Detroit police and catch him on the ferry dock on his way back. At 8 o'clock she got tired watching and gave it up, but two hours later, when her husband crossed, he was arrested by the Windsor police and sent back to Detroit. He finally agreed to go home with his wife.

Mining Department.

Denver, Jan. 6.—Ex-Congressman Laff Pence of this city, chairman of the committee appointed by the mining congress to take steps to secure the establishment of a department of mines and mining, will leave for Washington to take the necessary steps to secure the passage of the law. Mr. Pence said that the committee had arrived at the conclusion that the best thing to do is to present the matter orally to the committee having it in charge.

Will Enter Politics.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 6.—Eugene V. Debs has left for a trip through the south in behalf of the Social Democracy. Afterward he will go to Kansas for several weeks. He has an engagement to occupy the Rev. Thomas Dixon's pulpit in New York city April 17. He says that in every state in which an election will be held this year the Social Democrats will have a ticket in the field.

Letter Has His Wheat.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Rumors which were persistently circulated to the effect that Joseph Leiter had closed contracts for the disposal of the greater part of his vast accumulation of wheat to New York and Baltimore exporters, who had placed it in Europe, were positively denied by Broker George B. French, who represents the Leiter interests.

Shot by a Stranger.

Shelbyville, Ind., Jan. 6.—Oliver Bassett discovered two dogs chasing his sheep and he drove them away. He saw a man approaching and asked if the dogs were not his, when the man drew his gun and fired, the bullet taking effect in Bassett's groin, making a serious wound. The stranger disappeared.

KILLED BY AN INDIAN.

The Horrible Crime of a Seminole Red Devil.

VICTIM WAS A POOR WOMAN.

After Being Murdered Her Dead Body Was Ravished by the Lecherous Fiend Who Then Made Good His Escape.

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 6.—Mrs. Julia Laird, a white woman, was murdered by a Seminole Indian 40 miles north of Maud, O. T. The crime was committed in the presence of the woman's children.

Earlier in the afternoon Mrs. Laird had frightened the Indian away, threatening him with a rifle. Later she stepped out of doors, carrying her baby, and the Indian stole into the house, securing the rifle, and attempted to shoot her, but the cartridge failed to explode.

The Seminole then attacked her with the butt of the gun, clubbed her to death and ravished her body. He hurled the baby into the house through the open door.

Several Indians have been arrested, but the murdered woman's 8-year-old daughter, the oldest of her family, has been unable to identify any of them as the murderer.

Must Pay the Tax.

San Francisco, Jan. 6.—Insurance Commissioner Clunie has sent a letter to agents of all foreign insurance companies doing business requiring every fire insurance company not incorporated to pay annually to each county in which said company does business a sum equal to 1 per cent upon the amount earned in the county. This tax is for the benefit of firemen's relief funds in the various counties. The American companies pay the tax, but the foreign companies have refused to pay.

Germany is at liberty to erect on the ceded territory all the necessary buildings and establishments and to take the measures required for their protection.

Action Will Be Squelched.

Muskogee, I. T., Jan. 6.—The Creek council met at Okmulgee in extra session to consider the advisability of employing attorneys to test the constitutionality of the act of congress which went into effect Jan. 1, and which abolishes the tribal courts. St. Louis, Jan. 6.—A ruling greatly enlarging the powers of police officers has been made by the court of appeals in the case of the state against E. G. Hancock and others. Does HANNA's downfall and defeat seem certain from the news from Columbus. Money doesn't always win.

Some fellow out in Indiana recently applied for a pension on the ground that he was injured while hunting a substitute to do his fighting and help "save the country." Wonder what the old soldier thinks of such frauds? No doubt the "roll of honor" has on it many who are no more deserving than this Indian.

GOVERNOR BRADLEY in his message recommends that the offices of Jailer and Sheriff be consolidated. He believes it will prove "convenient and economical." The Constitution permits it, and it will likely be made, eventually. This rule has been followed in Ohio and other States, but whether it effects a saving is a question.

Bills to "complete the military record" of Mr. Smith, "correct the military record" of Mr. Jones and "remove the charge of desertion" from Mr. Johnson, burden the Congressional record. These "patriots" want to get their army records straightened out so they can go after "Uncle Sam" for a pension. Wonder how many "patriots" who deserted their flag are now on the "roll of honor."

SECOND ONE NOMINATED.

DOWN SOUTH.

Extract From a Letter Telling of Scenes in the Mississippi Valley.

Following is an extract from a letter Dr. Browning recently received from his son, Mr. C. M. Browning:

I mailed you to-day copies of the Galveston and Houston dailies, good specimens of South-western newspapers. Please present them to the BULLETIN, with my compliments.

As to New Orleans: We would likely look at things differently, you with more or less of sentiment, I in a rather cold-blooded, practical way. In truth, and from my standpoint, it loses by comparison with the larger cities, East and West, with which I'm more familiar. I've some backing, too, in my opinion, as you'll see from enclosed clipping from the Times Democrat, from the pen of a citizen just returned from an extended stay in Europe; he speaks of some weak points in good plain English. But, to go back a little: From Natchez down, can safely say I never enjoyed a ride so much, 'twas all novel to me, wholly different from any section I'd ever visited before. You see in the far South different products are raised, almost exclusively, in different localities. For instance, in one portion of country, cotton; in another, rice; in a third, cane; (not Cain, unless especially demanded), and so on as climate, soil, &c., determine. I've seen cotton fields till weary of them; from Natchez to New Orleans 'twas all sugar cane. I came over the Yazoo and Mississippi railroad which runs from one-half to three miles from the Mississippi river, much of the way along the levees. Without exception, the Mississippi Valley is the most fertile region I ever passed through; the soil is a deep black loam, and the growth of cane, magnolias, water lilies, palms, ferns, &c., literally covers the earth. I could scarcely realize that I was yet within "Uncle Sam's" domain. The typical Southern plantation was on every hand with immense houses or mansions. All white, with long porches and pillars, neat white cottages, not cabins, for their laborers, all whom are negroes; enormous cane mills and refineries in full blast, growing sugar cane, and the dainties cutting and hauling it in queer two-wheeled wagons or carts; great train loads of stalks, endless barrels of molasses and sugar at the stations, all went to make a panorama novel and strictly Southern. The air too was heavily laden with the odor of hollering cane and sugar, reviving all my boyish appetite for good old new, rather, Orleans sugar and molasses! Everything too seemed in the best condition—the plantations finely improved, giving evidence of thrift, and the homes showing taste, culture and refinement to the highest degree. The valley being perfectly level, we could, from the car window, take in this wonderful living picture for fifteen or twenty miles in every direction. I don't know how much the war may have ravaged this region, but there's no visible trace of it now.

Coming now to the city am compelled to think it not the cleanest place I ever saw. The streets are simply awful—not only the back streets, but great thoroughfares like Canal street as well. The gutters are so foul that water has to be pumped from the river to flush out the refuse, or at least keep it moving. All the principal streets have running water in the gutters, and it often runs deep and wide. Once when the sun was shining brightly and there had been no rain, I, having no boat at command, had to walk a square in order to cross the street. St. Charles avenue is very beautiful, has asphalt with attractive little grass plots, palms and other trees in the center. The houses, while not modern, are the good old Southern style, large, roomy, verandas, ample grounds, handsome fountains and endless flowers even now in full bloom, over which Mamma would simply go wild. I wanted to send her some Christmas flowers, still growing out doors, but I didn't have the nerve to steal any, and knew no one to ask; as to buying could do that from florists in Cincinnati. Will make amends when I get to San Antonio, said to be the garden spot of the South.

New Orleans has credit for being a very wicked city. If so it's not on the surface—one will have to hunt to find it; and hunting wickedness "a plenty" may be turned up in most places. You say you "try to imagine a Sunday in New Orleans." Well, nothing easier. Just look up or down Third street in Maysville, multiply the passers "a few," and you have it. Sorry to disillusion you in this respect, but New Orleans is on good behavior, Sabbath. In evidence, last Sunday afternoon a traveling friend and I were advised to take in the cemeteries: by some mischance we took a dummy line and were deflected to a resort in the West End on Lake Ponchartrian. There I was speedily disillusioned; the place was practically deserted, and we went back to the cemeteries where were thousands of people, animate and inanimate. I say cemeteries, because there are dozens of them adjoining, and it seems to me that the bulk of New Orleans' population resides in these silent cities of her suburbs. If I ever knew before, had forgotten, but they bury their dead here above ground. And it's a strange sight to a Kentuckian, the many thousands of marble, stone, brick, tile, terra cotta even wood vaults, and no mounds, monuments or head stones, as with us. Some cost many thousands of dollars each—none are cheap or common place. Indeed, to me the usual order seems reversed, that it probably costs more to die than to live in New Orleans. And you can prove by me that the latter is expensive enough for the average man; one dollar for turning this way, two dollars for turning that, one-half your pile, great or small, if you stand still!

I took a Maysville man's pride in visiting the tomb of General Albert Sidney Johnston, of Masou County birth and national fame. Many other distinguished Confederates are entombed here. For want of time was compelled to take in the old Spanish Fort at long range only. And the much talked of Old French Market! that's another shattered idol. It may have seen better days; it's to be hoped it did. The place is dirty, the people, only too many of them, are dirty, and the black coffee for which it was once famous is just vile. They charge you $1 for breakfast; if unfortunately a drinking man, they'll work you for $2 in wine before you get out. Being posted, I bought a cup of coffee and quit.

The foreign element—a larger one in New Orleans—is mainly Italian, Spanish, Mexican and French—principally French. The blackest kind of a "coon" can rattle off French, and the French rattles me. When wanting to locate a select or customer, am driven to all kinds of expedients; most times I proceed as did the man for convenience in saying his prayers—wrote them out as best I could and mutely pointed to them upon occasion.

Aside from the objectionable population common to every large city, New Orleans has a more numerous element, the equal of the best in culture, refinement and individual and collective integrity. In a business way too 'tis first-class, both as regards the vastness of her enterprises and the sterling worth of her leading business men. It's rightly the great business center of a great people.

But you dare not intimate that they have recently had yellow fever. They, one and all, indignantly resent the assertion as a personal affront. When pressed to say just what it was, they reply, "Well, it wasn't yellow fever." And that's all you can get out of them. I go to Galveston, Houston, Austin and other important points in Texas. Affectionately, C. M. B.

How many young men and young women are cut off just as the future seems brightest and fullest of promise! They are taken away by the disease which causes over one-sixth of all the deaths in the world—the disease which doctors call consumption. There is absolutely no reason in the world why consumption should be fatal—why it should be even serious. It is a disease of the blood, and can be cured absolutely and always by purifying and enriching the blood. The only exception to this is the case where the disease has been neglected and improperly treated until it is stronger than the body—until the body has become so weak as to have lost the ability to recuperate. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption if used according to directions. It also cures all lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affections.

All mankind are aware that it is better to do great deeds than to heap up great riches, but they do not seem to act on the information extensively. Perhaps, after all, it comes easier to them to get riches than to do great deeds.

When does high priced wheat benefit the farmer, is a question variously answered. It does not do so at all seasons of the year. If the rise in wheat comes suddenly in the spring, just when the old stock of grain is low and the now is not yet in sight, speculators and grain dealers get all the advantage of it. If, however, a sharp advance comes about harvest time, when eight out of every ten agriculturists sell their wheat, then the farmer will get his share of the good prices.

For the convenience of bicyclers the experiment has been often made of covering with asphalt a narrow strip of a cobblestone street close to the sidewalk. It has been found that the strip wears for years without cracking or being worn into holes. This shows that entire cobblestone streets, so rough and uneven as to be the terror of wagon and carriage drivers, may thus be simply coated with a sheet of asphalt and be made more durable than if paved with the regulation asphalt covering. The rubblstone or granite block paving becomes shaken together and pressed down as hard as iron. There could be positively no better foundation for the asphalt sheeting than this. The melted pitch and cement run into the hollows, filling them up and making a perfectly smooth surface. Thus at comparatively trifling expense the worst cobblestone street may be turned into a fine asphalt paved one that lasts for years. It has been tried and proved.

A Happy and Prosperous New Year

Is our wish for all. In connection with our greeting we also desire to thank our almost countless patrons for their continued favors.

In business transactions, more especially between buyer and seller, the advantages must be mutual, if not, the relations will soon be severed. It certainly is advantageous to us that you patronize us. It is not entirely egotism when we say it is also advantageous to YOU when you buy of us.

No Clothing and Shoe house in the country is so jealous of its reputation for handling good goods only as we are.

You have bought of us and sometimes of others. Ask yourself this question:

"With whose wares was I the best satisfied?"

Let your answer be an honest one.

We expected to invoice the past week, but the rush for our 25 per cent. cash reduction kept our entire force busy selling goods, hence it will fully be the 10th of January before they will be ready to take account of stock.

Until then, same terms will continue to rule. You will do well to take advantage of it. You will never again buy good Clothing or Shoes so cheap. Truly yours,

AFTER LEGAL SHYSTERS.

Governor Bradley Urges a Higher Standard For Lawyers and Its Strict Enforcement.

[Extract From Governor Bradley's Message.]

There is but little protection afforded the people against shysters and pretenders who have invaded the ranks of the law and brought it into disrepute. The trouble grows out of indiscriminately conferring licenses, says the report. Sympathy for the young man, apparently struggling to better his condition, and liberality which is not found in other professions, has enabled many undeserving, incompetent and disreputable persons to impose themselves upon the public. The press is constantly calling attention to this condition, and I urge upon you the establishment of a higher standard, and its strict enforcement.

There are many lawyers of Kentucky at advanced age whose improper and disgraceful practices at the bar are a reproach to the exalted profession of which they are unworthy members. I recommend the adoption of such legislation as will provide punishment for this class of advanced and accomplished shysters, and, if possible, eliminate them from the profession.

THE CATTLE KINGS.

ONCE A GREAT POWER IN THE WEST, THEY ARE NOW DISPLACED.

Small Stock Raisers Have Driven Out the Larger Ones—Big Ranges and Water Holes Fenced In—How the Bonanza Cattle Outfits Made Enormous Profits.

The great cattle ranges of western North Dakota and Montana, where for nearly 20 years, the bonanza cattle outfits have held complete sway, and where cattle have roamed the vast prairies at will, like the buffalo a quarter of a century ago, are passing out of existence.

The deathknell of the large cattle companies has been sounded by the innumerable settlers who have taken up vacant government land in the great grazing region, built "shanties" in the vicinity of every natural spring and water hole, fenced in thousands of acres of grazing land and driven the immense herds of the bonanza cattlemen from place to place, until there is no place left for them to go. All the years that the vast prairies of the west have remained unsettled have been worth millions to the cattle princes. Hundreds of thousands of cattle have been imported, placed upon the ranges at a cost not to exceed $16 a head for the 2-year-old steers, allowed to roam at will for two years, at an average annual cost not to exceed $3, and then sold in the market at Chicago for an average price of $45 to $50. The free ranges offered by the millions of acres of unsurveyed and unoccupied government land have been turned into millions of dollars in cold cash by the cattle kings, but the tide of immigration to the west has sealed their fate and they are ready to go.

For 20 years nearly a vast region lying along the western part of North Dakota and the eastern strip of Montana measuring 100 miles in width and 150 miles in length has been entirely given up to the interests of the cattle kings. Thousands of head of cattle have been grazed year after year, countless trainloads of beefs have been shipped to market and millions of dollars have gone into the pockets of the cattlemen. Pierre Wieboux, the Montana stockman, said to be the largest single owner of cattle in the United States, has numbered his total possessions of cattle at 50,000 head. The Berry-Boice Cattle company has owned and grazed each year not fewer than 30,000 head, and there are numerous companies that have essayed to keep on the ranges an annual total of from 10,000 to 35,000 head. The vastness of the business of these cattle companies may be estimated from the fact that the annual shipments for the past few years have been from 3,000 to 6,000 head for each of the large companies. The annual profits of the larger companies, after deducting the original cost of the cattle and the cost of their maintenance upon the ranges, are from $75,000 to $150,000—all that from the free ranges of the government, given without taxation or any return whatever.

To understand the situation that has existed up to the present time it must be remembered that this broad region which has been given up to the interests of the cattle growers has not been intersected by a fence, disturbed with a plow or grazed with a field of grain up to a few short years ago—nothing for miles but short nutritious grass, which cured on the prairie, as clover in a stack, and served equally well for feed in dead of winter as in the heat of summer.

Forth upon this vast area every spring have been poured streams of gaunt, ill-shaped, long horned and lean ribbed southern cattle. Left to roam at will, they have thrived and waxed fat, until in two years they have become sleek and fat and comely to the eye. During all that period they have been free and untrammelled as have ever the buffalo. But at the close of the maturing period they have been rounded up, driven to railroad stock shipping pens and loaded upon the cars for a trip to market. Their places are taken by fresh importations from the south. And so, year after year, have the processes been repeated, until the profits that were known to have accrued from the business have tempted thousands of small holders of cattle to settle in this region and engage in the beef business on a smaller scale.

The presence of these smaller operators is the inevitable doom of the cattle kings. Their vast herds are no longer allowed to roam the ranges undisturbed. The small ranchmen have built fences and inclosed the water holes. The prairies have been made to yield to the mowing machine, and the former free grass has come to be cut and stacked as hay, until the ranges in many places are bare of feed for the herds of the larger companies. These conditions are responsible for the closing out of the cattle princes. There is no longer room for their thousands of beefs. Fifteen thousand cattle, the property of one of the larger operators, succumbed to the severity of the weather for no other reason than that the ranges had been denuded of grass by the numerous smaller ranchmen. This was a warning that the most obstinate must heed. And so the cattle companies that formerly numbered their possessions by the thousands of head may now number them easier in hundreds. The small ranchman is the man upon whom the market of the future must rely for its beef.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Moscow, Jan. 6.—Dr. Zacharin, the famous physician of Czar Alexander XIII, is dead.

ANCIENT WARFARE.

How an English Castle Was Attacked in the Fifteenth Century.

Sir John Fastolf had by his will devised his castle, called Calster, to John Paston. As a fortification, it was an excellent defense against foreign invaders, and as a residence it was worthy of royalty itself. In fact, the Duke of Gloucester, afterward Richard III, at one time contemplated making it his abode. While Paston was trying to establish his title in the courts the Duke of Norfolk purchased a pretended claim to it, and sought to gain possession by force. The Pastons did not propose to yield, though the duke was then probably the most powerful noble in England, and John Paston was his liveried servant. Four professional soldiers were sent up from London to aid in the defense. They are described as "provyd men, conning in werr and can wel schote both gunnes and crossbowes and dovyse bolworkys and keep wache and warde. They be sado and wel advyssed, saving on of them, whyche is baldy (bald) but yitho is no brawler. Ye shall fynd them gentylmanly comfortable fellows, and that they dare abyde by ther takyng."

Young John Paston, aided by these four and by a handful of personal friends and followers, held the castle for several weeks against a siege conducted by the duke's army of 3,000 men. By the terms of the final surrender the besieged were allowed their lives and goods, horses and harness, and a respite for 15 days, in which to go where they pleased. They reported that they were forced to surrender by "lak of vitayl, gunpowdyr, meny herts and snore to rescue." Edward IV had refrained from interfering in this extraordinary contest, because the troubles with Warwick were gathering thickly about him, and the Mowbrays were too necessary to be safely offended.—Sewanee Review.
